

Annexation discussion continues

Interlocal agreement approved by Clinton

Daniel Richardson

The Clinton City Council had a lot on their agenda Monday night but it didn't take long to get on the subject of annexation with the city hall packed to capacity with concerned county residents.

Residents at the meeting questioned the economic viability of an annexation with such a high cost of extending city infrastructure such as gas, water, and sewage.

Mayor Phyllis Campbell responded by stating that city utilities would not necessarily be extended immediately upon annexation, but actions will be taken upon request of residents to extend utilities.

It was mentioned that many residents that live outside the Clinton city limits already have access to city utilities without paying city taxes.

It was also mentioned by Rodney Eason that the Clinton Police Department also patrols subdivisions outside the city limits, so the residents don't see that as a benefit of annexation, since they are already getting police coverage.

"I didn't want to bring this up," Campbell said, "but that doesn't have to be the case."

She assured that she was not threatening to restrict the police department to the city limits, but said the additional coverage does incur cost to the taxpayers of the City of Clinton.

"The police could drive to the edge of the city limits, then turn around," she said.

Campbell and members of the council argued that while outlying residents may not live within the city limits of Clinton, they are still part of the community, and additional tax revenue would improve the city for everyone.

Campbell discussed several ways the city could be improved by the additional tax revenue that would come with annexation. Specific projects cited included a city park, reconstructed sidewalks, a better funded and equipped police department, and more action to attend to dilapidated structures throughout the community.

"These things take money," she said. She mentioned that two years ago, the city was approved for a

Chamber Leadership holds graduation, celebrates achievements

The 2014-2015 Hickman County Leadership Program held its sixth annual graduation ceremony on Sunday, May 3, at the Young Center in Clinton. The ceremony began with Beverly Hopkins welcoming parents and guests to the event. An invocation was given by Hickman County Judge Executive Kenny Wilson, and was followed by a guest introduction by Mary Potter. Potter and husband, Ivan, along with Hopkins, and Melissa Goodman partnered with the Clinton-Hickman County Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors to make up the committee of the leadership program.

The graduating class includes the following Hickman County sophomore students: Delany Boaz, Courtney Cagle, Brianna Crider, Baylee Estes, Jalisha Hunter, Evan Jackson, Jasmyn Rushing, Keara Williams, Jace York and Aliya Richards who was unable to attend the ceremony. Despite all of the

HCEDA, Inc. to contribute to 'Work Ready' program

Naranjo appointed as newest board member

Daniel Richardson

The Hickman County Economic Development Authority (HCEDA), Inc. board of directors held their quarterly meeting on Wednesday, April 29, and voted to contribute $2,500 toward WorkKeys testing, which is used to assess both an individual's skills and skills of the overall workforce.

As a result of this support, Hickman Countians can visit Judge/Executive Kenny Wilson's office between now and May 29, to pick up a testing voucher, which will allow the individual to take the Work Keys test at the Hickman County Adult Education Center at the industrial park on Highway 51 South. Without the voucher, the cost to take the test is about $22.

Participants who take the test will receive a National Career Readiness Certificate (NCRC) that will confirm their scores for their current or future employers. The NCRC utilizes the three WorkKeys assessments to measure "real world" skills that employers believe are critical to job success. The three assessments include an individual's ability to look up information, apply mathematics, and read for information.

Hickman County Judge Executive Kenny Wilson was present at the meeting and informed the board that the county is about 50 to 60 percent through the Work Ready designation process. He said about 20 community businesses and organizations have submitted letters of support for the Work Ready program.

The purpose of the Work Ready designation is to show prospective industries that the county has met several criteria that the Kentucky Workforce Investment Board has deemed necessary to facilitate economic growth and demonstrate a workforce capable of staffing industrial employers.

The criteria include high school graduation rates, National Career Readiness Certificate holders, community commitment, educational attainment, soft skills development and Internet availability.

Hickman County currently meets most of the criteria, such as graduation rate and Internet availability. Other criteria such as NCR Certificate holders and educational attainment are well on their way to being met in the near future.

Along with the $2,500 for NCRC testing, the board also approved a resolution in support of the Work Ready program.

During the meeting, Director Greg Pruitt reminded the board that with the absence of Tommy Roberts, who resigned from the board earlier this year, the board has a vacant seat. Pruitt said the board is set up to have representation from the City of Clinton, the Hickman County Fiscal Court, both local banks, and business owners in the community. Roberts was both a business owner and magistrate until this year, and Pruitt said that he would like to see the fiscal court represented on the board again, although it is not a requirement.

He said he had spoken with Magistrate Kory Naranjo about potentially serving on the board, and that Naranjo had expressed willingness to serve on the board.

Rick Canty said that his main concern was that the board needed a younger person to provide a fresh perspective on issues, and that Naranjo met that requirement. The

Columbus approves interlocal agreement

Cherry Pyron

The city council of Columbus joined Clinton and many county civic organizations at their May meeting on Monday night by unanimously passing the Work Ready Communities Initiative resolution.

A copy of Columbus Resolution 2015-1 will join a sheaf of other documents to be submitted to the Kentucky Workforce Development Board. Judge-executive Kenny Wilson said on Monday night that he hopes to submit the gathered documents by the end of May and would expect to hear about its approval within another month's time.

"This (designation) makes Hickman County more attractive to potential employers than without it," Columbus city attorney Mary Potter told the council members. The Work Ready designation identifies the skill sets of potential employees and helps to quantify those skills within the county.

The council also approved without exception the interlocal agreement presented by Wilson on behalf of the fiscal court. "Your approval of this (agreement)," Wilson told the council, "gives us the legal capability of doing it (providing help to the city at its request) the right way."

Before the vote, council woman Sue Jones asked Wilson, "If a county worker in Columbus gets hurt, who's responsible?"

"You said it," Wilson replied, "he's a county worker, so the county's responsible. And (with this agreement) we won't be in your business, bothering you in any way unless you ask." Wilson told the council that road work and emergency services, such as those provided during the past winter, would be the primary areas where the county would come to the aid of Columbus.

The third item on the evening's agenda was allocating funds for repairs to be made in the city hall building. Mayor Kay Ferguson said there has been a $100 donation toward the cost of materials, and added, "And I think we'll be able to get more donations."

She told the council that John Lemons has a person with 300 hours of community service whom he recommended to help with the city hall work, and Dwayne Grimmitt, repair coordinator with Ingram Barge Company, said, "And the other help's on me."

Grimmitt also volunteered to provide studs for the walls, saying, "The whole building needs to be gutted because there's not much holding up the paneling right now."

board voted unanimously to appoint Naranjo to the board's vacant seat.

During the meeting, Pruitt also announced to the board that the Purchase Regional Industrial Parks Board is paying $30,000 to be one of the primary sponsors of a event in June for German manufacturers who are planning to locate somewhere in the United States. He said that Hickman-Fulton Counties Economic Development Partnership (HCFCEDP) Director Eddie Crittendon will attend the event in Germany to speak with manufacturers about locating in the Fulton-Hickman County area. Pruitt and Crittendon are both on the Purchase Regional Industrial Parks board.

Norma Pruitt, executive director of Kentucky Great River Region Organization (KYGRRO) spoke about some programs she was working on. She said she is working to have two exhibit panels placed at Columbus-Belmont State Park to identify the land and water routes for the Trail of Tears, and note the significance of Columbus being one of only three sites in the country where a land route and the water route cross.

She also announced that she is working with National Geographic to have local businesses and restaurants placed on their tourism website, and working with the Kentucky Department of Transportation to have signs along the four corridors from I-24 to bring traffic to our region.

Previously, Pruitt had given the board members a questionnaire asking them to rank their priorities in regards to local economic development. The board ranked facilitating entrepreneurship as their top priority, with industrial site research and development and marketing the former Damar College building to proyspective employers coming in a close second and third.

The next meeting of the HCEDA board is scheduled for Wednesday, July 29.

WORK READY - The Hickman County Economic Development Authority, Inc. board of directors held their quarterly meeting on Wednesday, April 29, and showed their support for Hickman County's Work Ready program by posing with this sign, which reads "Hickman County Economic Development is Work Ready!" Shown seated are HCEDA, Inc. Director Greg Pruitt, left, and boardmember Rick Canty. Standing from left are boardmembers Bob Williams, Steve Bradberry, and Howard Dillard.

The Smell Tells!

If you ever smell gas

Natural Gas is odorless in its natural state. We add a disagreeable smell to alert you if any gas should escape.

Gas leakage may occur from faulty appliances, loose connections, service lines, inside or outside your home, or from gas mains. This can be dangerous and should be dealt with promptly by experts.

even if you do not use it in your home - take these precautions promptly:

1. Call NCNG at 335-3116, after hours see yellow pages.
2. If the odor is very strong and you are indoors, open windows and doors to ventilate. Go outside. Call us from a neighbors's house.
3. Do not turn any electrical switches on or off.
4. Do not light matches, smoke cigarettes, or create any source of combustion.

Concentration has to be tough

What is being learned during these last few days of the school year? I, for one, had trouble way back when, when the sun shone and the warm spring breezes blew. Knowing that school would be out for the summer soon helped get me through.

For the seniors, attendance may be scarce except for those brave few who vowed to stick with it until the end.

There are many distractions: the fishing hole, vacations coming up, life at the pool, yard work to do to try and make a few bucks, and summer jobs keep calling. Knowing that the last few days are staring kids in the face makes it hard to keep their noses to the grindstone. Undoubtedly this year has flown by for the senior class of 2015. It always goes by fast for seniors as they fly through their last few days, practice for graduation, and finalize plans for “life after high school”.

For many it will be off to college in the fall. Some will even begin in the summer to get a jump on the others. I remember clearly the summer after high school graduation as I focused on getting ready for college at UT Martin.

They were the “Baby Vols” back then and folks attended college football games in suits of all things, especially fraternity members. Why, I don’t know.

I had my heart set on going to the University of Tennessee in Knoxville but coming from a small school, my guidance counselor recommended I start out in the engineering program at UT Martin and then transfer to Knoxville.

That is about what I did but soon tired of all the classes and labs and found a love for writing and joined the newspaper staff at the “Volette”, later to be named the “Pacer”.

Sports Editor is where they officially put me as Dan Morris was graduating and there was a need ... and no one else liked sports. Professor Carl Giles would walk by me during layout at the Union City Daily Messenger and tell me that my pages “smelled like a sweaty locker room”. I never did really learn how to read the guy but he was a likeable fella, preferring to wear short-sleeved shirts to show off his biceps.

I doubt if I would be in the newspaper business today if I had not gone on to college, and for that I am grateful.

I encourage today’s seniors who are going off to college to put a lot of thought into what their college major will be, but not too much thought, as majors often change.

I did end up at Knoxville, but in journalism instead of engineering. I probably would have drawn a bigger paycheck if I had been able to pass college calculus. But then I am one of the rare breeds who get paid for what I love the most.

“Appetence”

By Eric Lewis

Many of you have probably read that I am on the LTL program. I want to share with all of you why we all need to start living our lives healthier, which affects everything. Since the dawn of our existence, the human body has been nourished by eating all natural foods, only. Once we became “civilized”, we discovered that by cultivating grain, we could sustain our populations through man-made foods like bread. Eventually the potato became useful in the same way... feeding the masses, at cheap cost and effort. Then corn was brought into our diet, from the Americas... and sugar, lots of it. These types of plants were never meant to be eaten in large quantities. The hunter/gatherer lifestyle that our ancestors lived so healthy before, was replaced and monopolized... just to feed the hungry, and fuel the rich. Just about every restaurant in America serves their food with bread. Every store-bought beverage contains a pound of sugar. Many establishments practically give everyone free chips and crackers as an appetizer... peddling to you bags upon bags of chips... salt, and grease. Mankind doesn’t need to gorge itself like this. We owe it to ourselves to be healthy, and feel better doing it. So I propose this to you... For starters, drink nothing but water. Disown soda forever, it’s poison. That pot of coffee you drink in the morning...? Never again. Decaf it, black, if you must. Don’t eat ANY bread, not even the croutons on your salad. Half the reasons your body isn’t what you want, is because of the bakery of grain in your belly... and the way it absorbs, blocks, and thieves away everything else that is good for you. Making the change to eating healthier, will improve how you feel, lose size and weight, and make your body heal much faster. Don’t give in to the addiction of American fast food garbage. If it can sit on a shelf for a month before you eat it, it’s bad for you... but if it rots after a few days, you need to eat it, fast, because your body needs it. I’ve been drinking half my body weight in ounces of water, daily. Yes, I pee a lot. But I feel amazing, because I stay hydrated and constantly flush out the nibbles of nasty that my stomach may have received during the day. I don’t drink it because I’m thirsty. I drink water purposefully, to keep my system pumping and clean. I’ve been a large person all my life. I’ve tried “diets”, thought I was trying to improve things, but never did. But now, I understand. I finally see what I’ve been doing to myself... what we all are doing... as we indulge in the gluttony of food. “Living the Lifestyle” is the only way for me now, and I’m never going back to the person I was before. Hopefully...

City clerk Melissa Griffin was asked to get bids for termite treatment and materials to present at the June 1 council meeting, with Mayor Ferguson saying, “And I think we can decide about all this then.”

In response to a question about delinquent property owners, attorney Mary Potter suggested that the council enforce Ordinance 2012-2 to allow her to send letters to those owners identified by the council, giving a period of time in which to comply, and turning non-compliant owners over to the county attorney after that time.

“I have found that citing someone to criminal court, and not complying with this ordinance is breaking the law,” Potter said, “gets their attention. It’s a start.”

Some of the conditions cited in the ordinance are accumulated rubbish, weeds and grass over one-foot tall, scrap metal and vehicles at the point of being a nuisance and a danger. Potter will use city letterhead to address those property owners named by the council.

Potter also extended an invitation to the council to attend a May 12 dinner at the Cooperative Extension office at which the 8th-grade history club, sponsored by the Hickman County Historical Society, will present their research papers, saying that about half of the papers deal with Columbus and its history.

WORK READY - City of Columbus joins the Work Ready effort of Hickman County at its May meeting on Monday night with a unanimous vote of the council members. Judge-executive Kenny Wilson attended the meeting and anticipates submitting the entire packet of documentation by the end of the month.

Mayor Ferguson asked about interest in accepting for display at the city hall a 4x4-foot map of old Columbus from Columbus-Belmont State Park manager Cindy Lynch. Grimmitt will work with Lynch to see about preparing a display case for the map, which belonged to the late John S. Adams, long-time park manager. The display will be hung after interior work at city hall is complete.

With no further business to conduct, the meeting was adjourned until June 1. Councilmember Ricky Vaughn was the only absent member.

matching grant to take care of the sidewalks around town that were falling apart.

“We got the matching grant, but we didn’t have the funds to match, so it fell through,” she said.

The annexation discussion concluded with Campbell briefing residents on how to oppose a proposed annexation. She said that once an ordinance for annexation is drafted, approved by the council, and published, the annexation would go into effect in 60 days unless 51 percent of those affected by the proposed annexation signed a petition against the annexation. It would then go to a ballot vote of all those affected.

The city council has not yet made specific plans about what areas will be proposed to be annexed, but Campbell mentioned in last month’s meeting that a 1.5 mile extension of the city’s current limits would be a reasonable idea to start with.

Prior to the annexation discussion, Clinton Police Chief Snapper Seaton gave a report that included a potential “5th Officer” grant that would pay 75 percent of a fifth police officer’s salary for the first three years of their employment. Seaton asked the council to approve a motion supporting his pursuing of the grant so that he could move forward on the grant process with the confidence that the council supported the hiring of a fifth officer.

Campbell stated that currently, with four officers, there are gaps in police coverage throughout the week.

“It takes five officers to provide 24-7 protection without paying overtime,” Seaton said.

The council approved a motion for Seaton to pursue the grant.

Seaton also said that the Elizabethtown Police Department had donated about $3,500 worth of equipment to the Clinton Police Department. He also told the council about his Project ChildSafe project, in which the Clinton Police Department is offering free gun locks and firearm safety information to those interested. He said he is also visiting Hickman County Elementary School this week to discuss firearm safety with the students.

The council approved a resolution in support of the county’s Work Ready Program, and also approved an interlocal agreement with the Hickman County Fiscal Court. According to the agreement, the city can ask the county for road assistance during severe winter weather to assist with snow removal. This past winter, the county road department was able to assist with snow removal and road treatment as a result of the State of Emergency that was declared by Judge Executive Kenny Wilson. This agreement allows the city to ask for assistance without a State of Emergency being in effect.

The council also approved a request by Pamela Knox to forgive mowing liens on two properties in Clinton that she plans to purchase and renovate. The council voted to forgive the liens, which amounted to about $1,800. Council members Yvette Thomas and Laura Poole abstained from the vote. Knox will still pay the property tax liens on the properties that the city has in place.

Campbell opened several bids from waste management companies in regards to a city-wide contract for solid waste pick-up. Due to the complexity of the bids, the council decided to take some time to examine and compare the bids before making a decision.

Campbell reminded the council members that the City of Clinton has a Relay for Life team, and asked them to come to the annual Relay event on the court square on Friday, June 5 to represent the city. She informed the council that she is having shirts made for the council members that want to participate.

The council voted to have a budget workshop on Thursday, May 14, at 5 p.m. to establish a budget for the next fiscal year.

The next meeting of the Clinton City Council is scheduled for Monday, June 1 at 6 p.m. at the Clinton City Hall.

Relay for Life is June 5

The annual Hickman County Relay for Life event is scheduled for Friday, June 5, from 6 p.m. until midnight.

The Relay for Life committee also hosted a Princess Tea Party on Saturday, May 2, from 10 a.m. to 12 noon at the Young Center. See photos and story on page 7.

Columbus Cemetery to start clean up & mowing season

The Columbus Cemetery has begun the clean-up and mowing season again this year. Because the cemetery is one of the oldest in the area, the maintenance includes mowing, cutting and trimming old trees and repairing old stones. The grounds contain the oldest English Christian graves know west of the Tennessee River.

As before we are in need of money to continue the care for the last resting places of our loved ones. Please send donations to the Columbus Cemetery Restoration Assn., % of Mary Jane Lee, PO Box 164, Columbus KY 42032. Also Decoration Day is Sunday, May 17, 2015.

Thank you

National Day of Prayer

The Hickman County Ministerial Alliance will be sponsoring National Day of Prayer. It will take place on the Court House Lawn at 6 p.m. Thursday, May, 9. All are invited to pray for the Nation, its leaders, our community and its leaders.

Second Baptist Church News

May 3

Kalin Harold Cunningham was born to Bro. Dustin and Amanda Cunningham on May 2. He weighed 7 lbs. 10 oz. Everyone is doing well.

Brent Dublin gave the Sunday School devotion from John 4: 5 - 15. Vs. 10 says "Jesus answered and said unto her, If thou knewest the gift of God, and who it is that saith to thee, Give me to drink; thou wouldest have asked of him, and he would have given thee living water." Brent said, "if people only knew the gift of God."

Brandon Hannon signed to "Rock of Ages"

Bro. David Crowder filled in for Bro. Dustin, his message was from Genesis 5 various verses show that many men grew old including the oldest Methuselah but they all died. Bro. David said we will all die.Gen. 3:3 says But of the fruit of the tree which is in the midst of the garden, God hath said, Ye shall not eat of it, neither shall ye touch it, lest ye die. He said then the lies started as Satan told Eve "your not going to die" Other scriptures he used were Roman 5: 12."Wherefore, as by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; and so death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned" He said Death comes from sin but we can't blame Adam and Eve. We have our own sin. Psalm 1 says "the way of the ungodly shall perish" and Matthew 13: 24 - 30 Bro. David asked, "Are you a wheat or a tare? Will you be burned or gathered unto God.

Please pray for: Teen Garrison, Thomas Dublin, Bro. Rocky James, Larry Cagle, Jim Schooley, Megan Grubbs, Hal Cannon, Dorothy Hoskins, Joseph Atkinson, Billy Lamb, Debbie Kilpatrick, Steven Turner II, Helen Holmes, Josh Harpole, Josephine Shadwick, Mildred Morrison Eloise Harrison, Edna Roper, Mike & Sherry Jones, Paul & Jackie Ballard, Ruth Jewell, Cheyenne Lomax, Jim Connell, Shirley Byassee, Jeff Cox, Dale Melton, Bud Martin, Richard Puckett and the Henderson/Evans families.

May 7 at 6 p.m. Day of Prayer at the Courthouse in Clinton.

universities, the social order, the media, the governing bodies, they all, in the main, have aligned themselves against God, His Christ, biblical teaching and the followers of Jesus.

We are living much as it was in the dark days of Israel. The psalmist writes, "Forget not the voice of thine enemy, the tumult of those that rise up against you increases continually. Arise, O God, plead your own cause, remember how the foolish man reproaches you daily" (Psalm 74: 22,23).

Yes, all across our land they rise up against God. We Christians had better rise up for God and His gospel or we will awake one day and find the devil has taken away every freedom we have, one freedom at a time. "Wherefore take unto you the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to stand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand" (Ephesians 6:13). Stand, brother, stand!

LOCAL NEWS

Clinton Police to distribute free gun locks and firearm safety information

The Clinton Police Department has teamed up with project ChildSafe to distribute free gun locking kits and firearm safety kits. Project ChildSafe is a nationwide firearm safety education program developed by the National Shooting Sports Foundation and supported by the firearm industry.

The Clinton Police Department has received 150 safety kits through Project ChildSafe, which we will be distributing free of charge to local residents.

Firearms owners who request a free safety kit will receive it "no questions asked." We feel that if even one accident or death can be prevented through Project ChildSafe, the program will have been worth the effort.

We encourage everyone who owns a firearm to store it in a location inaccessible to children or other unauthorized persons. Ammunition should be stored in a separate location.

A key goal of the program is to prevent a loaded firearm from being left lying around the house where a child could pick it up and play with it. That's a tragedy waiting to happen.

The firearm safety brochure that is included with the gunlock is just as important as the lock itself. It explains the importance of safe handling and secure firearm storage in the home. I encourage everyone to read it and follow its advice.

If you have questions or need further information about the program, call us at 270-653-6419 or stop by City Hall.

Having More Retirement Accounts is Not the Same as Having More Money.

When it comes to the number of retirement accounts you have, the saying "more is better" is not necessarily true. In fact, if you hold multiple accounts with various brokers, it can be difficult to keep track of your investments and to see if you're properly diversified.* At the very least, multiple accounts usually mean multiple fees.

Bringing your accounts to Edward Jones could help solve all that. Plus, one statement can make it easier to see if you're moving toward your goals.

*Diversification does not guarantee a profit or protect against loss.

To learn why consolidating your retirement accounts to Edward Jones makes sense, call your local financial advisor today.

A Royal Celebration

Little princesses enjoy a Royal Princess Tea Party

Jennifer Humphreys

Little princesses from all across the land joined together for a royal celebration on Saturday, May 2, at the Young Center in Clinton. Accompanied by her Lady in Waiting or Fairy Godmother, each little girl enjoyed activities including cookie coloring, crown decorating, and snacking on fruit.

The Royal Princess Tea Party was a fundraiser for the Hickman County Relay for Life with all proceeds going to benefit the American Cancer Society. Each guest received a personal picture with fairy princesses. The event concluded with the girls dancing on stage to all of their favorite Disney tunes.

The annual Relay for Life event will be held on the Hickman County Court Square in Clinton on Friday, June 5, from 6 p.m. to midnight.

Four Kentucky State Parks will be participating in Kids to Parks Day on May 16. The National Park Trust organizes a nationwide day of outdoor play to encourage children across the country to explore their community parks and discover history, nature and adventure right around the corner.

Columbus-Belmont State Park, Wickliffe Mounds State Historic Site, Pine Mountain State Resort Park and Buckhorn Lake State Resort Park will be participating in Kids to Parks Day by hosting games and outdoor experiences. Here are the details for each park. All times are local:

Columbus-Belmont State Park, Wickliffe Mounds State Historic Site, Wickliffe

Kids and families will enjoy a day of old-fashioned fun at the park. There will be games, hiking, and educational programs. Kids will play mini golf and visit the museum free. For more information, contact Columbus-Belmont at 270-677-2327 or email cindy.lynch@ky.gov<mailto:cindy.lynch@ky.gov>

Pine Mountain State Resort Park, Pineville

The park will offer a day of free activities starting at 10:30 a.m. Activities include a guided hike, mini golf, a birds of prey program, and s'mores. For more information, contact Beth Byrnes at 606-337-3066 or beth.byrnes@ky.gov<mailto:beth.byrnes@ky.gov>

Buckhorn Lake State Resort Park, Buckhorn

Look for white-tailed deer, bird watch, build a sandcastle, visit the playground, go for a picnic, hike the trails, borrow a fishing pole, rent a boat, play a round of miniature golf, or enjoy a campfire. From 10 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Call 800-325-0058 for information.

The Kentucky State Park System is composed of 49 state parks plus an interstate park shared with Virginia. The Department of Parks, an agency of the Tourism, Arts and Heritage Cabinet, operates 17 resort parks with lodges -- more than any other state. Clinton Mayor Phyllis Campbell addresses the Chamber Leadership Class of 2015 during their graduation ceremony Sunday afternoon at the Young Center in Clinton.

the topics of presentations that the graduates presented during the ceremony Sunday.

Group presentations were judged by a guest panel that included Mattea Mitchell, Karl Buss, and Carlisle County Judge Executive Greg Terry. The first group, consisting of Courtney Cagle, Brianna Crider, Jalisha Hunter and Jasmyn Rushing, suggested more job availability by allowing students to utilize the Hickman County Senior Citizen's Building for weekend themed movie nights. The group discussed how turning the community computer lab inside the senior center into a movie theater and using the cafeteria for snacks, would give kids and family members something to do on the weekends. The idea was to have the students sell tickets for admission and vote on movies to show.

The second group presentation on youth issues was presented by Lauren Jenkins and Jace York. Aliya Richards was also a member of this group and had done her share of work towards the presentation, though she was not able to be at the ceremony. This group came up with the idea of hosting a spring and winter Youth Olympics. They proposed that children and teens could enter into competitions to be held at the school's track. These competitions included typical outdoor activities such as baseball and basketball. The goal would be to get as many participants as possible to join the activities and in return helping them maintain healthy lifestyles by staying active. The students stated that they would request their operation funds from local businesses such as the First Community Bank of Clinton, Clinton Bank, and Greg's Supermarket. They also would sell tickets to the events, along with food and drinks and even Olympic t-shirts for only $12.

The third group presentation was on agriculture. Members of this group included: Delaney Boaz, Baylee Estes, Evan Jackson and Keara Williams. Their topic was Hydroponics and how bringing hydroponic greenhouses into Hickman County would benefit the community tremendously. Hydroponic means to grow plants in a controlled environment where nutrient solutions are used rather than soil. The Hickman County High School has a hydroponic greenhouse that students care for in the agricultural department. This inspired the group to research the subject and to show the community how converting to this method could save farmers today a lot of money and time.

After delivering detailed orientations on each topic, judges were dismissed to decide a winner based on each group's presentation, audibility, and research, which was given as a report prior to the graduation date. During the judge's intermission, Ivan Potter spoke briefly about a few leadership challenges that the 21st century youth are facing in today's world. Deena Pittman and Beverly Hopkins followed Potter with the recognition of graduates and then Clinton Mayor Phyllis Campbell spoke to the students about what a great job they had done and how thankful she was to be part of such a wonderful program. She congratulated all of them stating how proud she was that they were the future of her community.

Judges returned after a short period of time and announced that group three's presentation on Hydroponics was the best overall presentation. The ceremony ended around 3:15 p.m. and was followed by a light meal catered by Jewell's Catering.

Sponsors of the Hickman County Leadership Program include Clinton-Hickman County Chamber of Commerce, Hickman County School Districts, Hickman County Community Education, UK Cooperative Extension Service- Hickman Co., City of Clinton, First Community Bank, Clinton Bank, River Valley Ag Credit, Hickman County Economic Development Authority, Peerless-Premier, Hickman County Arts Council, Tim Langford-Circuit Judge, Mary Potter Law Office, Batts Law Office, Jason Batts-County Attorney, Sue Ellen Morris-prior County Attorney and current Master Commissioner.

DAISY DAY - The Hickman County Memorial Library and Clinton Woman's Club hosted their second annual Daisy Day on Friday in honor of Daisy Craig, who donated the land where the Woman's Club and Library now sit, and her house that sat on the property at the time for use as a public library. Members and guests enjoyed refreshments and croquet from 2 to 5 p.m. At left, Liz Jewell, left, Laura Poole, center, and Beverly Dale took a step back in time as they dressed in 19th century attire for the event. Above, Dale takes aim for her next shot is a competitive game of Croquet as Poole contemplates her next move.

Top photo: Jewell and Pool strolled around to the Hickman County Museum where they admired the newly-relocated office of Dr. Thomas Lenard Lamkin, who was a horse-and-buggy doctor during the late 19th and early 20th century.
